German Longitudinal
Election Study

GLES 2013 Pre- and Post-election Cross Section (Cumulation) ZA5702, Version 4.0.1

Documentation of Questionnaire

The German Longitudinal Election Study (GLES) is a long-term project funded by the German Research Foundation (Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft) which started with the 2009 federal election and is continued with the 2013 federal election. GLES is the largest and most ambitious election study held so far in Germany.

GLES 2013 was directed by five principal investigators: Prof. Dr. Hans Rattinger (University of Mannheim), Prof. Dr. Sigrid Roßteutscher (University of Frankfurt), Prof. Dr. Rüdiger Schmitt-Beck (University of Mannheim), Prof. Dr. Bernhard Weißels (Social Science Research Center Berlin) and Prof. Dr. Christof Wolf (GESIS – Leibniz Institute for the Social Sciences), in close cooperation with the German Society for Electoral Studies (Deutsche Gesellschaft für Wahlforschung).

The following documentation refers to the pre- and post-election Cross Section (ZA5702) of the GLES 2013 and will give you some general information about the dataset.

Bibliographic description of the dataset

Study No.	ZA5702
Title	Pre- and Post-election Cross Section (GLES 2013)
Current Version	4.0.1, 02/26/2019

Citation	Rattinger, Hans; Roßteutscher, Sigrid; Schmitt-Beck, Rüdiger; Weißels, Bernhard; Wolf Christof; Wagner, Aiko; Giebler, Heiko; Bieber, Ina; Scherer, Philipp (2019): Pre- and Post-election Cross Section (GLES 2013). GESIS Data Archive, Cologne. ZA5702 Data file Version 4.0.1, doi:10.4232/1.13233.

Basic information

Funding Agency	German Research Foundation (Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft)
Data Collector	MARPLAN Media- und Sozialforschungsgesellschaft mbH, Frankfurt am Main
Date of collection	Pre-election: 07/29/2013 – 09/21/2013 Post-election: 09/23/2013 – 12/23/2013
Content	The first component of GLES composes a pre- and a post-election cross-section survey. A total of 3,911 interviews were realized (pre-election 2,003 and post-election 1,908). This documentation is about the pre and post-election cross-section. The cross-sectional data also represents the first wave of a long-term panel in the course of which the same respondents will be surveyed again in the following two federal elections in Germany. In the pre-election Cross-Section 47 percent of the respondents in West Germany and 36 percent in East Germany agreed to participate in the panel. In the post-election Cross Section 67 percent of the respondents in West Germany and 34 percent in East Germany agreed to participate in the panel.

Methodology

Geographic Coverage	Germany (DE)
Universe	The population comprises all persons with German citizenship resident in the Federal Republic of Germany, who had a minimum age of 16 years and lived in private households at the time the survey was being conducted.
Selection Method	Disproportional stratified multistage random sampling based on the ADM-design. All in all, 210 sampling points (Pre-election) and 211 sampling points (Post-election) were drawn in West Germany with the aim to realize 1,400 interviews. 96 sampling points (Pre-election) and 95 sampling points (Post-election) were drawn in East Germany to realize 700 interviews. As a result of

	this procedure, the East German population is overrepresented in the sample. The target person in the household was determined by Kish-Selection-Grid.
Mode of Data Collection	Computer Assisted Personal Interview (CAPI), with an average duration of approximately 66 minutes (Pre-election) and 67 minutes (Post-election) (arithmetic mean).
Field Work	All in all, 306 sampling points were drawn. Interviews were realized in 290 sampling points (Pre-election) and 275 sampling points (Post-election). On average, 6.5 interviews per sampling point (Pre-election) and 5.9 interviews per sampling point (Post-election) were realized. The interviewers were compensated based on the number of completed interviews, the number of documented contacts without any interview, and their travel expenses. At the end of the fieldwork of the pre-election study, the compensation for realized interviews and documented contacts without any interview was raised. In the post-election study, an additional bonus was paid when the interview had been conducted during the first two weeks of the field time. In the pre-election study, all realized interviews were checked via contacting the respondents. As far as possible, the checking should have been done by telephone calls. All interviews, to which the telephone number was not available or contact via telephone was unsuccessful, were contacted by letter. If doubts about the proper realization of the interview could not be cleared up, the respective interviews were deleted from the dataset. 37 interviews were affected by this. Another 17 interviews were deleted due to abnormalities in the dataset. Furthermore, seven interviews of an entire point were not incorporated, because they were not listed in the predefined addresses. Additionally, one interview of an interviewer was not realized at the predefined address, so that this interview was also deleted from the dataset. In the post-election study, in order to confirm that the interview had actually been held, the respondents were contacted by phone. In case a phone number was not available, the respondents received a postal request to confirm the interview. Overall, 26 interviews had to be deleted from the dataset because of negative interview confirmations. Additionally, another six interviews had to be deleted due to abnormalities in the dataset.
Response Rate	Pre-election cross section: 18.4 percent of 7,650 addresses were losses not specific to the sample. Based on the adjusted 6,240 gross addresses, 2,003 interviews were realized successfully (1,303 West, 700 East). Thus, the response rate is 32.1 percent. Post-election cross section: Of 8,050 drawn addresses, 14.3 percent dropped out because of sample neutral losses. This results in a cleared initial sample of 6,902 addresses. Based on that, 1,908 people were surveyed (1,174 in West and 734 in East Germany) resulting in a response rate of 27.6 percent.
Weights	The pre- and post-election cross section comprises three types of weights: a design weight, a transformation weight, and post-stratification weights. The design weight (w_{ow}) corrects for the oversampling in East Germany. The transformation weight (w_{tran}) transforms the data from a household sample into a personal sample. Both design weight and transformation weight are also available in a combined variable in the dataset (w_{trow}). The post-stratification weights include sociodemographic and regional weights with (and without) transformation weight. Those weights were calculated by using the iterative proportional fitting (IPF). The weights were constructed on the basis of gender, age (4 groups: 16 to 29, 30 to 45, 45 to 59 and 60 years and older), education (three groups: low, middle, high), BIK-regions (three groups) and East-West (for the weighting, all respondents living in Berlin received the East German weighting factor). Missing cases were replaced with the mode. The dataset includes six sociodemographic and regional weights: Germany as a whole as well as East and West Germany individually. For each of these regions, two weights were included: one with the transformation weight and one without it.

Data access

Usage regulations	Data and documents are released for academic research and teaching: access category A.
Anonymized data	According to German data protection laws, only anonymized data can be made accessible for public download. Based on this, some variables had to be deleted from the publicly available dataset. As a matter of course no information is lost: All variables can be used by interested researchers in a Secure Data Center (SDC) at GESIS (Cologne, Mannheim). Some variables are also available by signing a user contract. If you are interested in those variables please send an e-mail to gles@gesis.org . An overview of those variables can be found on our homepage (www.gesis.org/gles).

Errata

- One respondent (Ifdn = 1755) of the pre-election cross section who answered to have taken part in the Bavarian federal state election (vn133), erroneously did not receive the question concerning the voting decision (vn134aa-bb) and was instead coded to -97 ('not applicable').
- Nine respondents of the post-election cross section (Ifdn = 2099, 2185, 2766, 2963, 3018, 3046, 3055, 3071, 3737), who stated to have cast their vote in the federal election, did erroneously not get the question n238 concerning the point in time of their voting decision (Code -97 'Not applicable').
- Two respondents (Ifdn = 2472, 3566) erroneously received code -97 ('Not applicable') in the rotation variable dvn42.

The most recent errata list is provided by the GESIS Data Catalogue (www.gesis.org/dbk). There you can also find a list of all changes made between the different versions of the dataset.

Further remarks

- One respondent of the pre-election cross section stated in variable v223s (Reason for not voting) to be not eligible to vote in Germany. This case is not in universe and hence, was deleted from the published dataset.
- One interview of the pre-election cross section was deleted from the dataset due to abnormalities concerning the time stamp (temporal proximity to another interview which was conducted by the same interviewer and the simultaneous absence of the respondent's contact details)
- Code 12 ("all, the population") that was used in variable vn36 (debt crisis, main blame) of pre-election cross-section and is based on open nominations was recoded to code 11 ("someone else") in the cumulated dataset.
- Two respondents of the post-election cross section (Ifdn = 2319, 2893) stated that they did vote for the AfD with their first and second vote at the Bavarian federal state election in 2013 (vn134aa-bb). The party did not run for election at the Bavarian federal election in 2013.
- The variable party identification (vn119a/b) has the code 809 ("all parties; all parties equally good") which was only permitted in the post-election cross section.

This cumulated dataset consists of the pre- and post-election cross-section studies of the GLES 2013 (ZA5700 and ZA5701).

A cumulated dataset of the pre- and post-election cross-section study has been provided in a similar way within the GLES 2009 (ZA5302).

You can find further information about the study at GESIS (www.gesis.org/gles) as well as on the project website of GLES <http://www.gles.eu>.

To get an overview of the use of our data, we kindly request users of GLES data to inform us about publications that utilize this data. In case of limited access to your publication (e.g. conference papers), we would highly appreciate if you could send us an electronic (PDF file, gles@gesis.org) or a print copy of your publication.

Please note:

As a public service to the international academic community, we provide English translations of GLES datasets, questionnaires, and related important documents. Due to specifics of the original documents in German and the fact that translations were not done by political scientists, the wording of established social and political science questions and constructs in these translations may occasionally deviate somewhat from the Standard English versions. If you have any questions concerning the translations, do not hesitate to contact the principal investigators or their collaborators.
