Key to question no.11/b/

Reasons for discontent with the direction of the democratisation process in Poland

0 - general answers: the situation is bad, we are taking the first steps, everything needs time

1 - lack of faith in democracy in Poland: there is no democracy, nothing has changed, the situation is identical to the one under communism, power is in the hands of the same people, it is taking too long

2 - criticism of the government and the political elite: lack of openness, deceit, isolation of rulers from the ruled, the rise of a new nomenclature; political fragmentation, too many parties and political organisations, lack of consensus among politicians in matters of highest importance, everybody wants to govern, there is too much talk and not enough action; the position of the church is too strong, the church is meddling in politics

3 - criticism of society: lack of political savoir vivre, lack of understanding and use of the democratic process, lack of competent people

4 - criticism of the legal order: legal disorder, legal loopholes and lack of legislation in certain areas, an inappropriate taxation system, the introduced reforms are not thoroughly prepared, the discrimination of certain political forces/for example the case of the "X Party", the "let bygones by bygones policy" - the culprits of wrongdoing under the previous system go on uncensured

5 - criticism of the economy: high cost of living, decrease in living standards, poverty, recession, mass bankruptcies, unemployment, lack of social security, stratification of society, unequal chances/a longing for egalitarianism/, agricultural problems, difficulties with the marketing of goods, low prices

6 - pathologies: rise of crime, including white collar crime, financial scandals, enrichment by illegal means, lack of social order, corruption

7 - other

"-" - does not give reason or cause of discontent

"&" - I do not know, it is difficult to say
