Good morning/afternoon/evening. I am from Irish Marketing Surveys Limited.
We are conducting a survey about the most commonly used consumer products, those we use everyday for meals, housekeeping, or washing. We would like to ask a few questions to the person who buys those products for your household.

The following five questions are about your experience with packed and bottled products in shops and supermarkets. It concerns all drinks and oils in bottles, all foodstuffs in packs and cans, detergents and household cleaning products, cosmetics and pet-food. The questions are mainly about whether the quantities sold in packs and bottles suit you and are easy to compare.

1. When comparing competing products which are packed, canned or bottled in different weights or volumes, do those differences of quantities bother you?
