This translation of the original German questionnaire of ALLBUS / GGSS 2002 was prepared and first published by ZUMA as:

The following is a direct copy of this ZUMA-paper.
Preliminary notes

Translation goals always affect the translation product. Our goal here is to provide a translation which lets researchers see what was asked in the German General Social Survey (ALLBUS) 2002. We have not, therefore, set out to produce a questionnaire which could be fielded exactly as presented here in some English-speaking community. Some of the translations, for example, are not especially idiomatic; reasons for this are given below. Our translations are not heavily annotated. Occasionally we provide additional information in square brackets […] We recommend anyone who wants to field ALLBUS items in English (or another language) to take note of the points we make here and make appropriate adjustments. We will be happy to help where we can with questions you may have. We would like to take this opportunity to thank our translator, Sylvia Hönig, for both her patience and her valuable professional contribution.

Particular points of relevance:

• Translation of the German indefinite pronoun 'man' which in some respects is like the English indefinite pronoun 'one'
  'Man' is not formal and is used in more and different contexts from 'one' in English. English equivalents, depending on context, can be 'one', 'you', 'we' or 'people'.

• Gender specific reference.
  German and English differ quite a lot in the way they indicate the sex of people being referred to. Various differences have meant that we sometimes translate with ‘he/she’ when the German has something different.

• Answer scales.
  Answer scales in translation are a special case (Harkness, 1998)\(^1\). In some cases, we have attempted to provide translations which might actually work in English. In others, when the German scale itself was perhaps unusual, we simply tried to convey the essence.

• Answer categories not read out (Don’t know (DK), etc.).
  The ALLBUS 2002 was conducted as a computer-assisted-personal-interview (CAPI) and the (DK) categories were not read out to respondents.

• Interviewer specifications.
  The interviewer specifications are in italics.

And finally, a completely different question. We plan to continue our research project with a further survey. Your participation would be very valuable for us. This is why we would like to ask you whether you would be willing to take part in a possible future interview.

For a further interview, we will have to store your address. The data protection act quite rightly requires your consent to do this. You address will be stored separately from the questionnaire, solely for the purpose of a further interview. There is no way it can ever be linked to the answers you provide. Your data will remain absolutely anonymous.

Once the research project has been completed, your address will be permanently deleted from our records.
Your consent is naturally voluntary.
You may withdraw it at any time.

We would be very grateful if you would agree to take further part in our research project.

ISSP Family 2002

New questions (N) = 27
Repeat questions (R) = 37
Repeat questions have question numbers for 1994 in brackets.

Notes:
1) The 'R's , 'N's, and the 1994 question numbers for the repeat questions are just meant to alert members to the fact that certain questions/items have already been asked in earlier modules. You should not retain this information in your questionnaire.

2) ISSP policy on questions which you have already translated for an earlier module is that members should not tinker with wording to make slight improvements. Only real mistakes in translation should be changed. These should be clearly documented in your study monitoring report. If in doubt, contact the methodology committee convenor, Janet Harkness, at ZUMA.

3) All the substantive questions must be asked and asked in the order presented here.

4) All the required background variables must be included in your fielding (not in a prescribed order) and must cover the information required, as outlined in the Archive guidelines.

5) If you have questions about translation or any other aspect of your implementation, please also contact the methodology committee convenor, Janet Harkness.
